

Precious Presents

Have you ever wanted to tell someone how much you really care about them, appreciate them and that you love them? Do you know someone right now that really needs to hear this from the people closest to them in their lives? How would you feel if you and your family all wrote a special note to each other on a special card that shared your favorite memory with them, what you like most about them, how you really feel about them and your hopes for them achieving their dreams? These are truly the most precious presents you can possibly ever give one another, and it will make a new tradition that will be remembered and looked forward to for years! Don't let this holiday season pass by without letting the one's you love know it!

Often times we just don't get around to saying how we feel to one another because the right time or place doesn't just pop up or we aren't prompted to create the right way to do it. We won't let that stop us anymore. Here are some ideas to inspire your feelings and words to help get you started on creating this most precious gift quickly and easily.

- One of my favorite memories with you is...
- One of my biggest hopes for you is...
- I'm proud of you because...
- You may not know this but I really...like...admire...appreciate...love
- And what I hope is that...
- What I'm grateful for is...
- What I'm most excited about in our relationship is...
- I want to thank you for...
- I'm really proud of you because...
- What I've learned from you is...
- One of the best things you've given me is...
- My life is better with you in it because...
- You have made my life better by...
- If I had one wish for you it would be...
- I'd like to... or I promise to...

Choose your favorites from the choices above, or create your own statements that uniquely express to the people in your life just how very precious they are to you!

© 1995 Creative Achievement Worldwide, Inc. All Rights Reserved in all countries (630) 455-6545

TurboCoaching.com